

Parking Consulting

DESMAN has developed a pragmatic approach to understand and quantify parking demand characteristics necessary to create such a system. We pride ourselves on working with clients to develop systems, improvements and programs to satisfy these demand characteristics to a level of service appropriate for each user group. Our understanding of prevailing economic circumstances, market conditions, and operational and maintenance issues allows us to forecast the financial needs and viability of parking improvements.